

FEATURED POSTS

What Should the Duggar Scandal Teach the Church?

BY RUSSELL D. MOORE

I'm not interested in litigating the specifics of this case—the civil authorities and the relevant employers are now alerted to the situation. I'm more concerned that we see that this story is one more in what has been an endless cycle of stories of sexual abuse in "churched" contexts. We cannot assume that we can avoid this topic simply by making sure our doctrines are right, our values conservative, and our people sheltered from the world. If we are not addressing this issue, it is only because we are ignoring what is going on in our communities, and all too often in our pews. This requires that churches come with conviction to this question preemptively, before any specific situation arises, with a word from God.

CRITICAL CONFLUENCES

Double-I Factor: The Pew Report and Underestimating the Kingdom of God

BY WALLACE HENLEY

The Kingdom of God is invisible and immeasurable until its impact is observable and measurable in the form of its "fruit." This is why the biblical Church has so often been underestimated.

EDITORIAL

Cultural Christianity vs. Convictional Christianity

BY DR. RICHARD D. LAND

As cultural Christianity wanes the more faithful, traditional Christianity practiced by Evangelicals will stand out in ever more vivid contrast with mere civic or "country club" Christianity in America. The shameful gap between the "orthodoxy" (sound doctrine) and "orthopraxy" (sound practice) of too many Christians has been, and is, a disgrace to the Gospel.

We've Got to 'Preach the Truth About Being Filled With the Holy Spirit' and Speaking in Tongues, Says Franklin Jentezen

BY LEONARDO BLAIR

In a clarion call to a global gathering of Spirit-filled believers in Jerusalem Friday, Jentezen Franklin, senior pastor of the multi-campus Free Chapel Church, urged the anointed throng to start preaching "the truth about being filled with the Holy Spirit" and speaking in tongues to their families or risk losing a generation.

Young Leaving Churches That 'Abandoned Belief in Authority of Scripture,' Says Head of World's Largest Pentecostal Denomination Millions of Records and Fans Later, It's Still All About Jesus for Global Coalition of Empowered21 Worship Leaders

Iraqi Nun on Christian Persecution: 'This is Cultural and Human Genocide'

Partially Blind Muslim Schoolgirl Who Found Jesus Recalls Risking Her Life to Read Bible

Pope Francis: 'They Died With Jesus on Their Lips'

Christian Charity 'Homes for Hope' Seeks to Build 25 Homes for the Poor in 48 Hours Over Memorial Day Weekend

BY MICHAEL GRYSOSKI

A California-based Christian youth charity is seeking to build 25 homes for the poor in Mexico over the span of only two days. Known as "Homes for Hope," the San Diego chapter of Youth With a Mission's project, will focus on building 25 homes in Mexico during Memorial Day weekend.

Two Men Quote the Bible From Memory in 24 Hour Marathon to Raise Money for Nepal

US

Quick Links IPOST CP PHOTOS AUDIO

Marines Praise the Lord Together and Lift His Name Up High – HALLELUJAH!

A Blind Pole Vault Demonstrates Greatness to Overcome Adversity

Cartoons

The House of Reps Fights For Life!

The Boston Bomber's Final Verdict

College Graduates Ready for World?

THE WONK ROOM FOR ALL YOU PUBLIC POLICY WONKS

Other Headlines

Catholic Ireland Set to Become First Country to Legalize Same-Sex Marriage Through Referendum

'Noble' Review: Film Shows How God Us